under 'Social Work'

SEMINAR DESCRIPTION

This two-part professional education seminar is designed to provide human service professionals with an overview of key treatment issues of consumers who have co-occurring disorders of persistent mental illness and chronic substance abuse. A particular focus will be on treatment for consumers who use and/or abuse either prescribed or over-the-counter pain medications.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. To understand key concepts in the relationship between co-occurring mental illness and substance abuse
2. To differentiate between substance abuse and substance dependence
3. To analyze the similarities and differences between an "abstinence" model and a "harm reduction" model of treatment
4. To outline the differences between "wanting" and "needing" pain medication
5. To identify commonly used pain medications including potential side-effects and contraindications for use with psychotropic medication
6. To outline basic pain management strategies for consumers with substance issues
7. To identify signs of opiate mismanagement, abuse and dependence
8. To become familiar with treatment options for consumers who abuse opiates
9. To describe common family issues associated with having a family member with co-occurring disorders

FACULTY

Sondra J. Dublinsky, M.A., SAC, graduated Magna cum Laude from Upsala College in 1976 with a degree in Elementary Education and Spanish.
